What The Pros Say About GloGlovs . . .

I am the safety coordinator for Seattle PD and a member of the Motorcycle Traffic Unit. GloGlovs fit easily over other gloves, so on a cold day your hands are warm and still highly visible. They are also comfortable alone in hot weather. They withstand wearing them on my motor or using my weapon, even in the rain. GloGlovs are department issue gloves. Our officers have been wearing them for almost 8 years now with great results.

Our crew performs long-line rescues from a helicopter on a regular basis in both day and night conditions. Since we rely on hand signals between the pilot and the rescuer who is hanging from the end of a rope, seeing the hand signals is very important. I was surprised how effectively GloGlovs has improved communication between the pilot and rescuer. Not only do we wear them over our flight gloves, but we also wear them over our wetsuit gloves. We are now wearing your GloGlovs on every rescue, day or night.

-Sgt. Eric Thomson, Sonoma Co. Search and Rescue

GloGlovs will work well for most operations that we do. They can be seen from the air under night vision goggles from one mile up to four miles. They would aid in locating any survivor.

-RD Johnson, Air National Guard Rescue

Our employees have been enthusiastic about wearing the GloGlovs. from a safety stand point, your gloves have enhanced our uniforms immensely. The gloves are very lightweight, comfortable and improve our employees visibility.

-C. Anderson, Ground Trans. Las Vegas Airport

After three years of wearing the same pair... From a motorcycle, the GloGlovs have seen temperatures from 32 to 100 degrees, sun, rain and snow! The gloves are worn, but have held up to everything including escorts, hundreds of accident investigations and thousands of traffic stops. When I wear GloGlovs, traffic clearly understands and responds much earlier to my directions.

- Officer Richard Guieb, Motor Unit Kansas PD

Motorcycle visibility (day or night) is clearly enhanced when GloGlovs are worn by both the driver and passenger. These gloves should be a vital part of rider education and safety awareness programs. A GloGlov wearer myself, I am pleased to promote this fine product!

-Lou Murkowski, Tacoma, WA

As a bike commuter, I use these gloves to signal at intersections, even to wave traffic through. I have the Sport version, which I stretch over regular bike gloves. I've found they can even stretch over ski gloves up to about size M or L, depending on the ski glove. After three years of use on hundreds of rides, the stitching on one of the reflective patches has come a little loose, but otherwise they've worn well.

-Jun Noqami

I won't buy or recommend any gloves except yours. They work great for guiding in helicopters to landing zones both day and night.

- Lt. Dan Vickmark, Detroit Lakes, MN
